Forward (slides) shows a series of windsurfing manoeuvres called Forwards and Backloops which consist on jumping forwards and backwards in the air at high speed under heavy wind and waves conditions. The photos capture the precise moment when man, sail and board turn in the air without showing any other element in the scene, and the time interval between each slide permits the viewer to recreate a certain illusionistic but uncomplete motion because of the frequent sequences intercuts.

The photos were taken during the shot of Forward (film), a 16mm black and white film, that shows in a very fragmented time-line, the atmosphere, seascape and the actions occurring during the 2009 Gran Canaria PWA Grand Prix, at Pozo Izquierdo beach, a worldwide well-known spot for windsurfing due to strong wind and wave conditions throughout the year. — P.D.
